Natalie Christensen and Jim Eyre | TOGETHER / APART

Turner Carroll Gallery will open an exhibition for collaborative team Natalie Christensen and Jim Eyre on March 11, 2022. TOGETHER / APART is the product of a long-time, international collaboration debuting a new, dynamic body of photo collage and sculpture artworks. Opening on the two-year anniversary of the pandemic, this exhibition will be on view at Turner Carroll Gallery, 725 Canyon Road, Santa Fe, New Mexico until April 17, 2022.

In March 2020, Natalie Christensen (USA) and Jim Eyre (UK), like many of us around the world, retreated from their daily routines into their homes for an unprecedented period of time. During the prolonged lockdowns, they relied more than ever on the digital arena for connection, support, and psychological survival. During this extraordinary experience, time fell in on itself and one day was unrecognizable from the next. Covid-19 radically altered the world, causing us all to recognize the unpredictability of everything they had once believed unshakable.

In this context, Eyre in London, and Christensen in Santa Fe, began to create collaborative photo collages and sculptures based on conversations between the artists about everyday existence on opposite sides of the world. Architectural fragments and elements of the landscape from each of their homes are entwined to present their shared experience. Christensen and Eyre created intentional chaos through the mediums of photography, film, and sculpture as a way of grasping for order, healing, and catharsis in an increasingly unfamiliar world. Their collaboration took place across the digital platforms we all relied on to relieve our seclusion throughout the deepest and darkest isolations. The resulting body of work is a triumph of creative spirits and an exhibition of what we can rise to when placed in challenging circumstances. It is in hardship that we have the opportunity to evolve and these artists have given life to a stunning new series, one which captures our collective experience of a pandemic: the quiet moments, the frenetic disorientation, the inward reflections, and ultimately, a path forward in a newly reorganized world. Through this exhibition, Christensen and Eyre look directly into the realities of the past two years and simultaneously remind us of the shared threads that held us all together and our quintessentially human desire to commune and create.

TOGETHER/APART will be on exhibition from March 11 - April 17, 2022

ABOUT JIM EYRE

Jim originally trained as an interior architect and ended up as a creative director at Leagas Delaney in London. Along the way, he has been a business owner, a designer with Barber Osgerby, a filmmaker represented by Partizan, and a creative designer for Sir Paul Smith. Having worked in every medium imaginable from formed plywood to photography, film, and when appropriate even balloons, Jim believes the idea should always come first, then be executed in the appropriate media. Jim has created a number of iconic pieces of work. His “loop table” has permanent residency in both MoMA and the V&A. His Balloon Head window display for Paul Smith is still used globally to open new stores all around the world and inspired the front cover of Sir Paul Smith's latest book.
